

INNOVATIVE AND EMERGING PROGRAMS

Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) Transfer Initiative

The HBCU Transfer Initiative is a partnership between Cuyahoga Community College, the United Negro College Fund and the Cleveland Council of Black Colleges Alumni Association. Students are urged to complete their associate degree at Tri-C and move directly into their junior year at an HBCU.

Partnering colleges/universities include:

- Allen University
- Benedict College
- Bennett College
- Huston-Tillotson University
- St. Augustine's University
- Wilberforce University

Students majoring in most areas can also earn credits through the project's dual enrollment component, which allows for the seamless transfer of credits.

Save thousands of dollars by beginning your coursework in high school or at Cuyahoga Community College. Call 216-987-3260 to learn more.

Access Centers

Tri-C Access Centers connect you with the education and job training you need to build a better future. Programs can lead to a job with family-supporting wages or put you on a path to a college degree or workforce credential. The centers offer a range of services designed to meet you wherever you are in your education or career.

The Access Centers are a collaboration between Cuyahoga Community College and Esperanza Inc., MetroHealth Medical Center, Broadway/Slavic Village/University Settlement and Olivet Housing and Community Development Corp. (an arm of Olivet Institutional Baptist Church), in partnership with Cuyahoga Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Their purpose is to support individuals and families on their path to success by providing affordable or no-cost community-based educational and workforce programming.

Visit tri-c.edu/accesscenters to learn more.